What is the WCCE?

WCCE is the global organization representing the civil engineering profession.

- Facilitating a global platform where
 - all members are equal.
 - capable of addressing specific problems typical of the civil engineering fields.

Our commitment: Madrid declaration

Signed in Madrid on March 2016 by civil engineering organization of 60+ countries, declares the true commitment of this professional community with the accomplishment of UN's Sustainable Development Goals.

Basin management: Our contribution

Our contribution is channeled through our Standing Committee on Water.

Thus said, basin management

- Concerns a broad range of disciplines
- Political conflict should be deactivated through holistic trans-boundary basin management
- Transparency is key to all basin management policies

Last but not least, basin management is not only engineering, but is key to an efficient management policy and should not be neither sidelined nor overweighed in the decision processes.
